

Indicate Decisive Battle Raging In Malayan Jungles

Heavy Aerial Assaults Made On Singapore

SINGAPORE, Jan. 22.—(P)—Hurricane reinforcements swelled British air power for the battle of Malaya today and counter-attacking ground troops heavily engaged Japanese divisions in the Bukit Payong area below the Muar river.

Even before the arrival of the heavily-gunned Hurricanes was officially announced, a resurgence in aerial activity of the defenders was evident.

Five raiding Japanese planes were shot down and a sixth was damaged over Singapore today and British fliers claimed a heavy toll of invasion transport columns behind the lines.

The big land battles for southern Malaya were being fought roughly 70 miles from Singapore near the east and west coasts of Johore.

Ambush Advance
On the east, the British reported falling back from Endau, 85 miles from Singapore, and ambushing the Japanese advance somewhere north of Mersing, 20 miles down the coast.

On the west, the main battle has developed in the hills around Bukit Payong, inland and nine miles northeast of Batu Pahat, which is 60 miles northwest of Singapore.

The main force of the imperial troops was hurled against the Japanese in a major test there, only patrols diverting to engage apparently lesser Japanese units reported infiltrating down the coast into the Batu Pahat section at the British flank.

The drive was expected to relieve Australian and Indian troops cut off farther north in the Muar river region. Some small groups of these soldiers already have fought their way through the jungles and Japanese patrols to rejoin their comrades.

Sink Japanese Freighter
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—(P)—A Singapore news broadcast recorded here by the CBS listening post said "an American flying fortress scored an outstanding success today off the Dutch East Indies Archipelago when a 10,000-ton Japanese freighter was bombed and sunk."

The news report said "several places in the Archipelago were bombed and machine-gunned but little damage was done."

"The total number of Japanese ships of all classes sunk since the outbreak of the war was brought to 41."

Fortifications Strengthened

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—A high government official reported today that since the Pearl Harbor attack the army had been able to fortify Hawaii and the Pacific Coast more formidably than ever before, while starting a stream of reinforcements to the southwest Pacific.

(What constituted this stream, in terms of men and material, was not disclosed.)

Within the United States more than 600,000 troops have been shifted to new positions in less than seven weeks with a speed and efficiency which the official said had been termed "miraculous" by a railroad president.

The advantage Japan gained over the navy by the December 7 surprise attack was declared to have been largely offset by the mounting flow of American long range bombers.

Omitting details which might convey damaging information to the enemy, the official gave this picture of the urgent military measures taken since war started: Japan's treacherous raid on Hawaii was against the key position of the defense of the entire American Pacific coast, and the first reports, which fortunately were exaggerated, made it appear that the west coast had been stripped of its protection.

In the emergency preparations of the last 18 months, heavy reliance was placed on the fleet and its Hawaii base, and Pacific coast defenses had lagged somewhat for the benefit of more exposed positions.

Japan Renews Heavy Attacks In Philippines

Forces Of Foe On Island Of Luzon About 200,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—The Japanese have renewed their heavy attacks on General MacArthur's line on Batan peninsula in the Philippines, the war department announced today, with Japanese forces on the Island of Luzon estimated to total roughly 200,000 men.

Enemy reinforcements are being landed, said a department communique, in Lingayen gulf and Subic bay, and the entire Japanese 14th army under General Homma with a number of other units, is now on Luzon.

Hostile air activity in Luzon during the last 24 hours was light, the department said, but 17 enemy bombers attacked the city of Cebu, on the island of the same name, about half way between Luzon and Mindanao, last Sunday.

Heavy Fighting Ensues
The text of the communique, No. 70, of the war, based on reports received here up to 8:30 a. m., Central Standard Time:

"1. Philippine theater:
"The Japanese are renewing their attacks all along General MacArthur's line on the Batan peninsula. Particularly heavy fighting is in progress on the left and on the center. Enemy reinforcements are now being landed in Lingayen gulf and Subic bay. The entire Japanese 14th army, under General Homma together with a number of other units, is now in Luzon."

"Hostile air activity in Luzon was light during the past 24 hours."

"On Sunday seventeen enemy bombers attacked the city of Cebu."

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Military officials here said a Japanese army contained eight to ten divisions of approximately 15,000 men each, with attached and supporting units not organized in divisions.

This would make General Homma's force, with one entire army and other troops on the Island of Luzon, total probably about 200,000. This estimate did not include Japanese forces on other islands of the Philippine group, including a large invading force at Davao on the southern Island of Mindanao.

The war department said Homma, 54, was a veteran of the Japanese war in China and a former director of military intelligence for the Japanese.

Physically much larger than most Japanese, Homma served as a staff officer and a division commander in China, the department said, and was in command of the Japanese at Tientsin for two years. He represented the Japanese army at the Geneva disarmament conference in 1931 after serving as military attaché in London the previous year.

The 230 pound Homma was in command at Tientsin in 1939 when the "stripping bureaus" were instituted, and electrically-charged barbed wire barriers

Registration By Volunteers In Civilian Defense Work

A registration, to have on file the name of every Sedalian and Pettis county willing to do what they can in the war emergency, without receiving any remuneration, was started in Sedalia and in specific places in the county today.

The Pettis county Council of Defense, carrying out the instructions of the national council, asks every person to register, that in the event Sedalia and the county should suffer a war disaster, there will be no delay in calling on persons to aid, performing the task for which they may be best fitted.

"After the disaster comes" state those in charge, "it is too late. The government asks us to be prepared, and in this emergency we are asking the cooperation of all the people."

The central registration place in Sedalia is the lobby of the court house, where volunteers may register until 8 o'clock tonight, and on Friday and Saturday from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m.

Work Soon Be Outlined
Mayor J. H. Bagby is chairman of the county council, and after the volunteers have all registered, the other members of the council will know the available persons to aid them in arranging their particular programs, and in carrying out the work to be done.

"Civilian Defense is Your Defense—Volunteer," is the slogan of the county defense council committee on registration, Miss Roseanne Dugan chairman.

"Have you registered, volunteering your services to the defense council?" asked one Sedalia business man, meeting another on Ohio avenue this morning.

"No I haven't" was his answer. "I knew you were a slicker, but I didn't know you were a slacker," said the first gentleman, jokingly, at the same time serious about the registration.

"You may be kidding," said his friend, "but you know I've never thought of it in that way. I am going to register, and right now."

He turned, walked back to the court house, and filled out a card.

The 27th anniversary of Kiwanis International was observed by the Sedalia Kiwanis club at its meeting in Bothwell Hotel this noon.

Charter Member W. M. Johns was the principal speaker, devoting his remarks in tribute to twenty-seven years of achievement by Kiwanis and the greater application of Kiwanis ideals in the present national war crisis. His talk was educational to the members and designed for this purpose, but so clearly pictures what a Kiwanis organization is and does, that Mr. Johns' remarks will be published in a subsequent issue of the Democrat.

The speaker was presented by Ed McLaughlin, chairman of the Education committee, who read the anniversary message from the president of Kiwanis International, Rev. O. J. Rumpf, presided as program chairman.

Kiwanian Charles Hanley called attention to the loss of one of the club's most active members, Lee Shannon, who is now located in Topeka. Lee was present and heard the tribute paid to him by Mr. Hanley and responded, expressing regret that business requirements made it necessary for him to leave this club. The members sang the "Builders" song for him and at the conclusion of the meeting joined hands in singing "Auld Lang Syne."

Pledge To Patriotic Duties
Clyde Heynen, chairman of the Classification, presented each member with a list of closed and open classifications. The secretary's report and attendance record for 1941 was presented by Secretary Herbert Schrankler.

President George H. Scruton announced that he was making a pledge for the members to take an active part in the war program of Kiwanis International to the fullest extent. At the same time he announced appointment of Attorney Henry Salvator as chairman of the club's speakers' committee to work with the International organization in bringing factual information to the public about the war program.

Guests today were L. R. Fuller, St. Louis, with K. R. Carstens; H. L. Kelly, claim agent for the Missouri Pacific in Sedalia, with Rev. H. U. Campbell; Stanley Brooks, Lebanon, Mo., with Howard Roberts; and Kiwanian T. M. Mullaly, St. Louis.

Red Cross Fund Still Increases
A. H. Wilks, chairman of the Red Cross drive for war funds in Pettis county, stated today that the campaign fund continues to grow, and with subscriptions received from Masonic bodies of Sedalia, now totals $11,018.21. The county quota was $9,100.

All the people of Pettis county, stated Mr. Wilks, have along with their neighbors, answered the appeal of the Red Cross, to support the men now serving our country, on the front, and their families.

Will Show Navy Pictures To Graduates
All boys who graduated from Smith-Cotton high school, in the class of 1940, are invited to be present at the high school library, at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, January 26, when moving pictures, relative to the United States navy will be shown.

Chief Machinist Mate S. G. Drilling of the United States Navy, who will be present at the meeting, has a special message for these boys, and asks them all to be present.

Striking Force Of The British Be Stronger

Steps In Offensive Plans Are Being Rapidly Formed

LONDON, Jan. 22.—(P)—The British army's main task is to organize a continental offensive, Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair told the House of Commons today in opening debate on the adequacy of British airfield defense against invasion of the British Isles.

He said that the RAF's new airborne defense regiment would be "second to none." In British usage the regiment is not a fixed number of men but includes a variable number of battalions. The new airfield defense units are spoken of as a regiment.

Sinclair, as government spokesman in the debate, said that the army's chief job now was to organize "the greatest possible striking force for offensive operations on the (European) continent."

He said the RAF had formed its new airborne defense units to relieve the army of that "onerous" protection job.

But Sinclair's description of the newly conceived defense units which would be managed by the RAF under army direction apparently failed to satisfy critics who recently have been crying alarm over losses of airfields in the war so far.

"The new scheme is complicated and based on muddled thinking," declared Colonel Arthur Evans, Conservative, who said he could not agree with Sinclair that responsibility between the RAF and the army was "clearcut and defined."

George M. Garro-Jones, Laborite, asserted that the divided command was still the curse of the military system.

"We must get mobile air units consisting of troop carriers, light tank carriers, parachute carriers and even gliders distributed all over the country in small units so that not one of our vital air-dromes is more than 15 minutes away from a strong counter-attacking air-borne force," he said.

Before Sinclair spoke, Prime Minister Churchill indicated that the debate would be conducted in secret as soon as it entered operational phases.

Is Just A "Warm-up"
Today's debate was but the warm-up for the forthcoming 3-day general debate which Churchill will open with probably the longest statement of his career.

While no possibility appeared that the government could be defeated, political observers regarded it extremely likely that the government would be compelled to call for the vote of confidence which Churchill has said he will ask if the debate became challenging.

Sinclair said that the responsibility for ground defense of airfields remained, as before, with the army, but that the RAF had assumed command under army direction of forces stationed on the fields themselves.

In this, he said, "there has been the closest cooperation between the army and the RAF."

Responding to criticism over repeated losses of landing fields in Greece, Crete and now Malaya, Sinclair denied that efforts to deal with the problem had been "hindered or at all affected by any service jealousies which are be-

Attributes Sinking Of One Ship To A Spy Ring

BY CHARLES FRANCIS
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(P)—A British seaman, four times listed as dead, told calmly today how several ships were torpedoed beneath him and how a fast-working spy ring caused one ship to be sent to the bottom only 30 miles out of a British port.

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised if some of the present torpedoings so close to your shores were due to fifth-column work," said Chief Steward Allan Harvie of the British Merchant Marine, adding that his Mediterranean-bound vessel was sunk by a U-boat shortly after leaving port because of the inadvertent words of a shipmate to his sweetheart an hour before the vessel sailed.

The parting took place in a pub, Harvie said, and the seaman, who died in the torpedoing, told the girl the ship's name, cargo and destination.

It later came out that the barmaid overheard the farewell and remarked to the cashier that it was "a pity such young people" had to face such dangers.

"The cashier passed the information to a man in a nearby movie house," Harvie related, "and he in turn phoned it to someone up the coast, who signaled a sub from a deserted part of the shore. Eighteen men died because of a slip of the tongue and a valuable war cargo was lost. They caught the spies, though."

Was Declared Dead
Harvie, who was 26 yesterday, returns to his Vancouver, B. C., home today after four years' absence to await a new assignment. He said that of the eight ammunition ships on which he had served in the war, two had been torpedoed by U-boats.

"I was officially dead for several days after each of those boats were blasted from under me," he continued. "On one, a 5,300-tonner, the mess room steward and myself happened to be at the ice box on the top rear deck when the tin fish struck up. We were blown into the water with a free life boat on deck near us and were the only two men saved. We were in the small boat for five days before a destroyer saved us."

Harvie related that the other ammunition ship was sunk in a convoy last summer when a submarine wolf pack got several vessels, including one on which American Red Cross nurses lost their lives.

He said he saw the British shell the French fleet at Oran and was on boats evacuating troops at Dunkerque, Narvik, Crete and Greece.

Submarine Hunt Off Atlantic Coast Is Intensified

Break With Axis By United Action Nears

Argentine Awaits Final Word On Action Sought

By HENRY BAILEY
RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 22.—(P)—A member of Argentina's delegation to the Pan American conference raised an eleventh hour objection today to the turn of an important phrase in the draft declaration for unanimous American breach of relations with the axis — a point which cast a shadow on previously indicated unanimity.

The Argentine foreign minister and head of the country's delegation, Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, meanwhile, said he approved the idea of breaking off relations "in principle" but added that the delegation was awaiting final word from Buenos Aires.

Want Modifications
A member of the delegation said his group would seek two modifications in the text of the agreement this afternoon.

The first change would be to drop the word "collective" at the end of article four to make the resolution say that consultation be held before any resumption of axis relations thus to establish that the decision is merely "unanimous" and not "collective." Other conferees are expected to agree to this.

But the other objection, a proposal to change the wording of key article three, to provoke a fight.

Nevertheless, fundamentally an agreement among nations, including reluctant Argentina and Chile on the much debated proposal for a concerted diplomatic break with the axis opened the way today to a unanimous stand by the 21 American republics against Germany, Italy and Japan.

Participating with Argentina and Chile is working out a four-point compromise resolution were the United States, Brazil and Peru. The action drew favorable comment in conference circles and little difficulty was anticipated in obtaining formal approval from the remaining 16 nations represented in the conference of foreign ministers of Pan American republics.

Brazil May Act Quickly
An authoritative source said Brazil might sever relations with the axis powers even before the end of the conference as a move to encourage other American nations to act promptly to fulfill the resolution.

The conference committee on economic cooperation, meanwhile began work on its agenda, topped by separate proposals for American nations to end all financial, commercial and economic dealings with the axis.

Among recommendations before this committee were proposals for freezing funds of axis nations and businesses throughout the Americas and establishing blacklists of individuals and businesses linked with the axis.

The committee also is considering the possibility of a joint declaration of economic warfare against the axis.

invasion armies in the Muar river sector.

Behind the lines, British fliers claimed a heavy toll of Japanese transport columns north of Parti Bulong, destroying many vehicles and machine-gunning troops.

Singapore itself, under incessant aerial assault, grimly counted a toll of 304 killed and 725 wounded in yesterday's 100-plane Japanese attack—comparatively surpassing the worst raids on London at the height of the blitz.

A communique said 625 wounded were admitted to hospitals and 100 others treated at first-aid posts.

But the beleaguered island colony was cheered by the arrival of powerfully-gunned Hurricane pursuit fighters, and when 30 Japanese warplanes roared over Singapore again today RAF fliers were credited with shooting down five bombers and damaging a fighter.

Coincidentally, a Chinese army spokesman reported that fear of attack by allied bombers had spurred 30,000 to 40,000 Japanese to leave parts of Japan for Shanghai and other centers along the lower Yangtze valley.

Destroy Oil Wells

In the Dutch East Indies, where Japan's far-flung invasion hordes are striking in heavy force, the Dutch announced they had completely destroyed the great oil wells and oil plants at Balikpapan, on the east coast of Dutch Borneo.

Balikpapan is about 175 miles below Tarakan island, off the northeast coast of Borneo, where the Japanese gained their first foothold in the Indies.

Destruction of the oil field was carried out "in view of the clearly distinguished Japanese intention to attack Balikpapan with superior forces in order to get hold of the important oil wells," it was announced.

Dispatches from the front said British artillery opened the Malayan counter-offensive yesterday with a heavy curtain of fire. Two waves of RAF fighters then swept over the area, machine-gunning Japanese patrols and were immediately followed by charging infantrymen.

Besides attempting to crush the Japanese in a direct frontal attack, the empire troops also hoped to relieve the survivors of an Indian and two Australian battalions cut off for three days south of the Muar river.

Decision To Attack

An Associated Press correspondent with the British forces said the decision to attack, reached at a war council of generals under the shade of a rubber tree, coincided with information that the Japanese were planning to strike at the British west flank in northern Johore state.

In broad outline, the British strategy was to drive north against the main Japanese armies swarming down the Malay peninsula, temporarily ignoring smaller Japanese infiltration forces which had landed in the British rear, farther down on the west coast.

Rangoon, capital of invasion-menaced Burma, drew the attention of a single Japanese plane. British anti-aircraft batteries threw up a heavy fire. The Japanese circled the city at less than 1,000 feet and machine-gunned a road.

Aground, British, Burmese and Chinese troops fought Japanese and Thai troops near Kawka-reik, 20 miles west of the Burma-Thailand frontier and 45 miles east of Moulmein. About 100 miles west of Moulmein, across the Gulf of Martaban, lies Rangoon.

Widening of the war zone in the South Pacific was forecast in Melbourne in the wake of mass air attacks on allied islands off the Australian mainland. Rabaul, New Britain, was raided again.

Arthur Drakeford, Australian air minister, declared that the Japanese, backed by one or more aircraft carriers, were on the point of landing in New Guinea—perhaps today. The southern shore of New Guinea lies only about 100 miles north of Australia's Cape York.

War Is Carried To French Indo-China

CHUNGKING, Jan. 22.—(AP)—China's air force carried the war into French Indo-China for the first time today by blasting an unidentified air base in the Japanese-occupied French colony, the official Central News Agency reported tonight.

Two hundred Oakland, Calif., women were sworn in to serve as policemen in case of emergency. If nothing else, they'll arrest attention.

The Every Ready Sunday school class met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. J. Muschany with Mrs. Kalo Monsees assisting hostess. There were 25 present. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Bruce Ulmer. Mrs. J. S. Daniels and Mrs. Victor Hoehns had charge of the devotionals. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Arley Skidmore and family who have been living on the John Finlay farm moved north of Montserrat Saturday. They were given a farewell party by their neighbors Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Muschany and son. There were 20 guests present.

The W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church had its all day meeting at the church Thursday. Special guests were a trio of young ladies touring the country and giving talks especially directed to students and colleges. Miss Audra Brazelton with on M. U. degree, Miss Hester Withey a native of Cape Town, South Africa, a graduate of Cape Town University, Miss Evelyn Hallquist, a graduate of the Lutheran Bible Institute. They were accompanied here from Sedalia by Mrs. Irwin Raut. They spoke at the high school assembly at 12:45 p. m. Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Homan, Jr., and daughter Judy, of Marshall, visited here Sunday with Mrs. Homan's aunt, Mrs. L. J. Weigers, Mr. Weigers and Mr. Homan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Homan, Sr.

H. S. Ramsey presented the Boy Scout troop with two banners at a service preceding the worship service at the Methodist church Sunday morning. An achievement banner was given them for their progress in scouting the past year and an attendance banner, which was won by having the largest attendance at the Court of Honor each time this past year. Mr. Ramsey is chairman of the troop committee. The banners were awarded by the Ozark council.

Mr. and Mrs. William Martin had a sale of their live stock, etc., at their farm Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Martin plan to move to Sedalia soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira DeHaven spent Sunday in Kansas City as guests of their brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George DeHaven.

Mrs. Golder Luetjen and Mrs. Mae Homan were hostesses to the Stony Point Embroidery club Friday afternoon. A number of the women were making quilts and rugs, and the afternoon was spent admiring these exhibits. A contributed lunch was served. Mrs. John Marsh, Kansas City, Mrs. John Needy and Mrs. C. C. Gibbins were special guests of the club.

Members of the Christian church had a contributed dinner at the church Wednesday evening, in honor of the new members who joined the church following the revival held recently.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ardee Bane, Mrs. T. E. Wear, Mrs. C. H. Jenkins, all of Ottumwa, Mrs. James Wear and Mrs. Kidman, of Iowa Falls, Iowa, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Golder Luetjen and Mrs. Mae Homan Thursday.

Miss Jean Dale and Miss Hattie Ellison were week-end guests in the C. R. Ellison home. Both young ladies are students at C. M. S. T. C. Warrensburg.

Mrs. Pearl Kabrs of Sedalia, is spending several days with her son Raymond and family. Mrs. John Marsh, Kansas City, came Friday for a week's visit in the home of her brother, Charles McBride and family.

Mrs. Jessie Wear daughter Lucille and son, Clyde, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Wear, all of Ottumwa were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Golder Luetjen and Mrs. Mae Homan. The Mesdames Wear are nieces of Mrs. Homan. Miss Winnona Wear, Bunceton, was also a dinner guest in the home Sunday.

Otto Homan left for Marshall Sunday where he has accepted a position with the Temple Stephens store.

Mrs. William Montgomery who has been on the sick list recently is improving.

Mrs. George Anderson, Mrs. E. S. Coffman and Mrs. Charles Goodnight of Sedalia entertained the following guests at dinner Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monberg, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ellison, Mrs. W. J. Holtzen joined them in the afternoon.

Robert Curtis, Marshall and Edgar Curtis, Warrensburg, spent Sunday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Curtis.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Monsees returned Sunday from a several weeks vacation spent in Hollywood, Florida.

Harry Hotsenpiller, Neosho, spent the week-end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hotsenpiller.

Mrs. Delbert Melendy, who has been ill since the 12th of December, is able to be up about her home again.

The Never Fail club met with a perfect attendance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wagenknecht Saturday night.

Fire of undetermined origin which started in the clothes closet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Oehrke, Saturday afternoon caused considerable damage to the closet and a bed room and furnishings thereof. Mr. and Mrs. Oehrke were in Versailles at the time. The fire was noticed by Jimmie Jackson who was near the home and saw smoke coming from the window. The fire was extinguished by the Bremer water system. The property is owned by S. E. Bremer.

and joint convoys to protect them.

Give Added Protection

Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Cuba, Mexico, Peru, Uruguay and Venezuela have merchant vessels totaling 1,198,566 tons to add to the United States Merchant Marine of 11,000,000 tons. Of the total, Brazil has the most shipping with 487,820 tons and Argentina is second with 312,970.

The Latin American countries could provide five battleships, ten cruisers, 29 destroyers and 20 submarines for any joint effort to keep the sea lanes open. The battleships and most of the cruisers are of pre-World War construction, but a number of the destroyers and submarines are up-to-date craft. In addition, the southern republics have many coastal patrol vessels and gunboats, and their naval and air base facilities would prove of great value in combined convoys.

Although none of the Latin American republics has a sizeable air force, they have a combined total of more than 2,000,000 trained soldiers, including regulars and reserves. The inter-American trade which the convoys would be organized to protect would involve shipment of needed raw materials to the United States and shipment to the Latin American countries of essential imports to meet defense requirements.

Included in shipments to the United States would be coffee, copper, bauxite, rubber, tin, nitrates, phosphates, cinchona for manufacture of quinine and quebracho, which is important in tanning leather.

During the year the barriers were up many Britons and other foreigners were stripped and searched when they passed them, once an American woman was slapped by a Japanese, and harsh restrictions prevented a million Chinese and foreign residents from obtaining sufficient quantities of coal and milk.

Production Job To Whole Nation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—Washington awoke today to the realization that Donald M. Nelson is giving the war production job back to the whole country.

Nelson's announcement that he intended to establish a field service as a seventh and new major division of the war production board which he heads was regarded here as a step toward decentralizing the war effort.

Officials said such a move, sending WPB men into the industrial centers of the country where the battle of the assembly lines is being fought, would shortcut a great part of the delays caused by paper work and letter-writing and by the necessity of calling manufacturers to Washington to discuss production and conversion problems.

Nelson said he had not yet decided "how much responsibility will be here and how much out in the field." However, the high place accorded the proposed field service in his organization scheme was taken as clear indication that he intended to delegate to it a good share of the decision-making power heretofore reserved for Washington alone.

The field division will compare in importance, Nelson said, with the six major divisions of WPB set up by him yesterday, when he abolished the office of production management—production, purchases, materials, labor, civilian supply and industrial organization.

The field offices will handle not only the job of bringing small plants all over the country into the military arsenal, but will advise contractors on priorities, allocations of material "or anything else that pertains to getting the job done," Nelson told newsmen yesterday.

Road Funds Are Reduced

More Is Allotted For Secondary Feeder Highways

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—Missouri had a balance of $4,611,835 in federal highway and grade crossing apportioned funds available for programmed projects as of December 31, 1941, Thomas H. MacDonald, Bureau of Roads chief, disclosed.

The statement was made by MacDonald in hearings before a House Appropriations subcommittee on the Independent Offices Appropriations bill for the 1943 fiscal year. The hearings were released today.

Of this balance, he said, $3,018,258 were regular federal aid funds, $534,281 secondary roads and $1,059,891 grade crossing elimination funds.

Reduction In Allotment The apportionment of regular federal aid highway funds for Missouri for the 1942 fiscal year, he told the committee, was $2,018,907. Expenditure of regular federal aid funds in the state during the last fiscal year was $3,715,465.

The current fiscal year's apportionment for secondary feeder roads was $519,261 compared with an expenditure for these roads of $408,868 last fiscal year.

The grade crossing elimination allotment for the current fiscal year was $580,174, expenditures last year, $754,628.

MacDonald's report showed that 229.3 miles of federal aid highways were completed in Missouri during the fiscal year ended last June 30 at a total cost of $4,700,060 including state funds; 241.6 miles to cost $5,718,000 had been approved for construction.

In addition 115.6 miles of secondary roads costing $871,518 were completed, 30.8 miles to cost an estimated $461,040 were under construction and 66.6 miles to cost $475,672 had been approved for construction.

Expected To Keep Offices

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—The office of Government Reports expects to maintain field offices in Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo., for the remainder of 1941 and in the 1943 fiscal year, Philip C. Hamblet, executive officer, told a House Appropriations subcommittee.

Hamblet, testifying before the committee during a hearing on the Independent Offices Appropriations bill for the 1943 fiscal year said that as rapidly as arrangements can be made offices are being opened in all states and some are being expanded.

Defense Plant corporation witnesses disclosed that seven commitments totaling $29,003,591 had been made for Missouri as of December 31, 1941. Five of these were for construction, machinery and equipment and two for machinery and equipment only.

The Home Owners' Loan corporation reported to the committee that 762 debtors' accounts were in default $80,362 in the state on last November 30.

Public Works Administration witnesses estimated that all transactions involving the $180,000 Kennett, Mo., electric plant would be completed by August, 1942, with the plant substantially finished in March this year.

ing a substitute for the original proposal to establish an all American general staff. Instead it was suggested that a defense committee be formed—thus avoiding the impression of purely military purposes—with each nation naming one representative. The committee would operate at Washington.

National Garden Group Named

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(P)—The appointment of a national garden advisory committee to help direct a national "victory garden" was announced today by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Director Paul V. McNutt of the defense health and welfare services.

The committee will be headed by Governor Prentice Cooper of Tennessee.

The garden program is designed to secure efficient production of vegetable crops in farm and community gardens to supplement production under the government's "food-for-freedom" program.

Members of the committee included Paul Stark, Louisiana, Mo., and Miss Connie Bonslagle, state home demonstration agent, Little Rock, Ark.

Mrs. B. J. Holt Injured When Hit By Auto

Struck At Fourth Street And Osage Avenue Last Night

Mrs. B. J. Holt, 58, 218 West Fourth street, was struck down less than a block from her home, about 7:40 o'clock Wednesday night by an automobile driven by Harry Wahrenbrock 815 East 6th street. She suffered a fractured collar bone and numerous facial abrasions. She is getting along nicely today.

In a report to the police, when he went to report the accident, Wahrenbrock said that he was going east on Fourth street and was turning north on Osage avenue when his automobile struck Mrs. Holt, who was walking west, crossing Osage avenue. Wahrenbrock asserted that he did not know Mrs. Holt, and did not know his car had struck her until he saw her fall to the street, unconscious.

He stopped and picked her up and called McLaughlin's ambulance, which took her to Bothwell hospital.

May Resort To Rationing Of Electricity

Blunt Warning Given Congress By Power Officials

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Congress received from government power officials today a blunt warning that the nation faces a rationing of electricity—possibly this year—that may even dim private homes to conserve power for the defense program.

That possibility was voiced by Leland Olds, chairman of the Federal Power Commission, and G. O. Wessener, acting power manager for the Tennessee Valley Authority, in testimony during House Appropriations committee hearings on the Independent Offices Supply bill approved today.

The rationing of electricity for homes, offices, night clubs and other civilian purposes, Olds told the committee, "is going to be necessary and is going to be done," and a survey to determine the power supply of the various areas is being made "to determine just what loads can be cut off without materially interfering with the normal life of the community."

Olds said he believed the emergency would call for power rationing in many regions "by the end of this year."

While it is hoped and planned, he added, that curtailment can be effected "without serious dislocation of the normal life of the people," it may mean "a great deal more than simply the elimination of neon signs, ornamental street lighting, the use of the radio in homes, or other essentially luxury uses."

The more serious shortages of power naturally will occur in the heaviest defense production areas, Olds explained, and the population of those areas may face a serious reduction of their normal activities requiring the use of electricity.

Summary of Testimony

The testimony on the scores of independent federal agencies of the government brought out that:

1. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has made commitments of about $6,000,000,000 for the defense and war program.

2. Budget Director Harold D. Smith recommended a more careful check to determine whether states are actually matching federal funds allocated them for many projects.

3. Tennessee Valley Authority has developed a process for production of alumina (basic material for making aluminum) from valley clays, and is conducting research for commercial use of other critically needed minerals in the area.

4. Federal funds will be used only for construction of strategic highways and access roads for duration of the emergency.

5. The Civil Service Commission lacks staff and funds for complete check-up of thousands holding government jobs.

Olds said the commission's plans for power supply this year and next assume that approximately one-half of all electricity needed for defense production shall come from curtailment of normal uses.

The principal difficulty in making power available to areas where it is most needed, he said, arises from the fact that "you cannot transmit power you save in Dakota or Iowa and use it in the east."

Would Pool Resources

The power commission submitted an eight-point program for development and conservation of power, including new installations and interconnections, rehabilitation of mechanical equipment to enable it to handle heavier loads, maintenance of high water storage levels to guard against shortages, pooling of power resources in areas to obtain maximum use of existing facilities, adjustment of loads and switching hours of operation.

Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones reported that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had made authorizations and commitments for defense and war production totaling just short of $6,000,000,000.

Broken down by major categories, this showed:

Defense Plant Corporation, for construction of plants, acquisition of machinery and equipment and related projects, $2,657,722,964.

Defense Supplies Corporation, for acquisition and maintenance of a reserve of critical and strategic materials, $487,000,000.

Rubber Reserve Company, for purchase of crude rubber from the far east, $845,000,000.

Metals Reserve Company for purchase of such materials as aluminum, antimony, iron and lead, $1,041,000,000.

Defense Homes Corporation, for aid in production of defense housing, $17,834,000.

Other, including a $425,000,000 loan to Great Britain, $937,492,000.

Obituaries

Funeral Of Joseph Saner

Funeral services for Joseph Saner, retired Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad brakeman, who died suddenly Wednesday morning will be conducted at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the McLaughlin Funeral Chapel.

Pall bearers will be the following friends: John Miller, George Poland, Thomas Devine, M. Boylan, Charles McGinnis and C. E. Stemmmons.

Interment will be in the Calvary cemetery.

The body is at the McLaughlin Chapel.

Mr. Saner about two years ago suffered a fracture of the leg and recovered from that injury in about five months. In recent months he had not complained of feeling ill and his sudden passing was a shock not only to his family but to his many friends.

He was found about 8 o'clock by Mrs. Saner who had gone to awaken him. He had passed away in his sleep.

Mr. Saner was born at Chamois, Mo., November 29, 1864 the son of the late Henry and Pauline Sedner Saner. He spent his early life at Chamois and began his railroad career there.

Mr. Saner came to Sedalia about fifty-three years ago. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Graney at the old St. Patrick Catholic church rectory on January 18, 1891.

Surviving him is his widow and the following children: John Saner, Cleveland, O.; Mrs. L. H. Kueck, of St. Louis, Mrs. J. H. Benscoter, of Seneca, Mo., and Mrs. N. D. Maness of Marshall.

Also surviving are three grandchildren.

Clyde S. Shackles

Clyde S. Shackles, 39, died at the Bothwell hospital at 1:15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon following a lingering illness.

He was born at Sedalia, October 13, 1902, the son of the late Charles Shackles and Mrs. Eva Lee Shackles. He had lived in Sedalia his entire life.

Mr. Shackles is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marie Shackles, Denver, Colo., one daughter, Mary Opal Shackles, Sedalia, six sons, Richard, Johnnie Carl, Robert, and Charles Shackles all of St. Louis, Kenneth and William Shackles, Denver, Colo., one sister, Mrs. Daniel Harmon, Sedalia, two brothers, Fred Shackles, Sedalia, and Pete Shackles, Texarkana, Texas, his mother

'Mr. District Attorney in the Carter Case' and 'Man From Cheyenne' opens tomorrow at the Fox theatre for two days

Many a mystery movie has featured the "unsolved crime" in its plot to make for thrills and suspense, but the converse is true in the instance of "Mr. District Attorney in the Carter Case" opening tomorrow at the Fox theatre. For in the picture, it is presumed throughout that the case has already been solved, until the final sequence, when in a stunning surprise, the real murderer is revealed. James Ellison plays the part of the young assistant district attorney and shares top billing with Virginia Gilmore. Others in the cast include Lynne Carver, Franklin Pangborn, Paul Harvey, Douglas Fowley and Spencer Charters.

Co-feature "Man From Cheyenne" with Roy Rogers, George "Gabby" Hayes and Sally Payne.

Cinema-Land Pays Final Tribute To Carole Lombard

GLENDAL, Calif., Jan. 22.—(P)—Cinema's grief-stricken land of make-believe paid a final solemn tribute Wednesday to one of its most beloved actresses, Carole Lombard.

Funeral services for the beautiful blonde wife of film star Clark Gable were held in a little flower-banked chapel atop a grassy hill overlooking the sprawling motion picture studios that made their names world famous.

With her to a last resting place also went her mother and close companion, Mrs. Elizabeth K. Peters, who brought her into the world at Fort Wayne, Ind., 32 years ago and saw her rise to the highest pinnacle of movie fame.

They were among 22 persons who lost their lives in the crash of an air liner on a snow-capped Nevada mountain last Friday. The attractive and patriotic actress was returning from a defense bond selling campaign in Indianapolis.

In accordance with Miss Lombard's wishes, the services, which lasted less than 15 minutes, were private. They were attended only by her sorrowing husband, a few relatives and 200 of her most intimate friends.

The services were the most impressive for a film celebrity since those for Jean Harlow in 1937. Officiating at the chapel services and at the mausoleum where lie the bodies of Will Rogers, Marie Dressler, Alexander Panagides, Tom Mix, Florenz Ziegfeld and other screen notables, was the Rev. Gordon C. Chapman, pastor of the Westwood Hills community Methodist church.

installed the new officers and the incoming president, Margaret Jo Cranfill, made some announcements.

Mrs. Pendleton To Make Purchasing Trip

Miss Dorothy Pendleton, manager of the Ellis Ladies Ready to Wear store, will leave Friday with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ellis, Jr., owners of the Ellis stores, and Mrs. Jennie Fuhrman, manager of the Ellis store in Chillicothe, for New York, where they will buy merchandise for the Ellis stores. They plan to be gone two weeks.

YEAST RAISED DUMPLING
A Treat for the Family!
1 cup lukewarm milk
2 teaspoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon shortening
1/2 cake Fleischmann's Yeast
2 3/4 cups sifted flour
Scald milk, add sugar, salt and shortening; cool to lukewarm. Crumble in yeast and stir until dissolved. Add flour, or enough to make an easily handled dough. Knead dough quickly and lightly until it is smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl, cover and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Shape small portions of dough into balls, flatten slightly, brush sides with melted shortening and place close together in 8-inch layer cake pan. Let rise until light. Place pan on rack in pan of boiling water, cover pan and steam 15 minutes. Be sure the water does not come up over dough and keep water boiling vigorously. Makes 20.

Fleischmann's is the only yeast which will be used in Cooking School demonstrations next week. The Fresh Yeast—with the yellow label.

The Washington Merry-go-Round

by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—Charles Augustus Lindbergh will remember for a long time his talk with Secretary of War Stimson on the question of re-entering the army. It was that kind of interview.

When the America First champion wrote to Lt.-Gen. "Hap" Arnold, army air chief, offering his services to the army, he was very hopeful of regaining the colonelcy he had angrily discarded in the heat of his isolationist crusade. He wrote this letter, instead of formally applying for reinstatement of his commission, on the advice of certain friends, some of them in the air corps.

They counselled Lindbergh that he first feel out his prospects before going on record as asking for a commission.

The reason for this advice was that they had good reason to believe that the army did not care to re-commission Lindbergh in the air corps.

That was why no formal application was ever received from him; also why he did not discuss the matter of a commission in his interview with Secretary Stimson. Lindbergh was expressly cautioned not to mention the subject.

The talk took place in Stimson's office, where the balding flier, hat in hand, sat across the desk from the veteran cabinet member, who has grown white in the unstinting service of his country. Stimson opened the conversation.

For fifteen minutes, in precise, cutting words, he outlined his concept of Americanism. Stimson never mentioned Lindbergh. When he finished, the flier picked up the conversation and Stimson listened without interruption. Lindbergh stated that he was engaged in secret experimental work with a commercial concern, which the army knew about and was interested in.

At Lindbergh's offer to continue in that capacity, or any other, Stimson buzzed for Assistant Secretaries Robert A. Lovett and John J. McCloy and told them about it.

"Where do you think Mr. Lindbergh would be most useful?" asked Stimson.

Lovett and McCloy promptly voiced the opinion that the flier should continue his civilian work. Both said firmly they were sure this would be "most suitable."

That ended the interview—and Lindbergh's hoped for reinstatement as an officer of the air corps.

Safe Shelter
Washington air raid rules call for tenants on the first floor of some apartment houses to take shelter in apartments on upper floors. As an upper-floor dweller, Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota, in a recent air raid test, opened his doors to a family from the floor below.

But the visitors were ill at ease. Finally Nye, with a grin, broke the ice by making a crack about his isolationism.

"This building must be pretty safe," he said, "because Hitler's aviators would certainly be cautioned about where Nye lives!"

Free Hand
Senator Harry S. Truman got a hearty pat on the back from the president when the Missourian called at the White House before his committee filed its report blasting the OPM for failing to prepare American industry for full-time war production.

Also, the president couldn't have been more emphatic in declaring for the continuation of Truman's special committee.

"I'm planning to make a request for an additional $100,000 to carry on our investigation of war contracts," Truman informed the president. "But before I do anything I want your approval. You're the boss. I'll call it quits if you say the word."

"No, Harry, I want you to continue," said the president. "Your committee has done an excellent job so far, but there's still more to do."

"It's very nice of you to say that, Mr. President," said Truman. "But I warn you—we won't pull any punches. We'll continue to expose ineptitude where we find it in the OPM and other offices, as well as misconduct on the part of private industry."

"Go to it, Harry," beamed the president. "I'm all for you. The legislative branch of the government has every right to know about how the money it appropriates is being spent."

Merry-Go-Round
A "Washington Star" reporter published an item giving the proportion of men to every horse in the German army compared with the number of men to every horse in the American army. He immediately got an official call warning him that this was secret military information. "But," he replied, "I merely copied the figures out of the Cavalry Journal. Anyone can buy the Cavalry Journal, including axis agents." ... E. B. Craney, Montana radio man who is a close friend of Senator Wheeler, recently promoted, financed, and successfully completed a Red Cross relief drive netting over $60,000 in 24 hours. ... Bad Films For Good Neighbors Young Nelson Rockefeller, who on the whole has done a good job for Pan-American cultural relations, has bogged down badly on films for our Pan-American neighbors. His Museum of Modern Art, which was supposed to do this, has been laboring for nine months at a cost of $15,000 per month to the government—and finally has brought forth a mouse.

Rockefeller and Jock Whitney are getting a large dose of criticism about this because they personally are interested in the Museum and have permitted an amateur group to run the show—into the ground.

Without benefit of competitive bidding or any system of checks and balances, amateur after amateur in the Museum has tackled the job of deciding what kind of films should be sent to Latin-America. Here is a cross-section of the results so far:

"Better Dressed Fifth Floor," "A Child Went Forth," "The City," and "Power and The Land"—all utterly unsuited and without objective for South America.

Some reasonably good commercial films have been donated, such as "U.S. Steel," "Greyhound Bus," "General Electric Excursions in Science," and "The American Can Company's Silver Millions." Also Hollywood has handed over a group of pictures, such as "Eyes of the Navy," "Soldiers of the Sky," "The Battle," which are the best pictures that have gone to South America.

Meanwhile the amateurs continue to chatter and muddle over uplifting the films for our Good Neighbors—all at the expense of Uncle Sam.

Three Million Volunteers
The various offices of Civilian Defense have now enrolled 3,516,600 volunteers, according to Director F. H. LaGuardia. That includes 607,307 air raid wardens, 238,967 auxiliary firemen, 149,359 auxiliary police, 136,676 medical personnel, and 246,030 others. Considering that there were fewer than a million on Nov. 23, this suggests progress.

Of course this is up to now largely a paper strength. Most of these people are largely untrained. But they are trying; they are doing what they can. They are all that stands between us and complete confusion in case of air attack.

They should be honored for their willingness to help rather than be criticized, especially by those who have not lifted a finger to help.

Private Barrow
Nothing in the professional career of Joseph Louis Barrow, amazing though it was, became him like the leaving of it.

Joe Louis has been a fair, clean fighter in the ring, and a decent, self-respecting citizen outside it. Not only those of his race, but all Americans, have reason to be proud of his conduct, a pride heightened by his climaxing of an unparalleled championship career by giving his entire share of the proceeds of his last fight to Navy relief and then enlisting as a private in the Army. He has set an example to Americans of his race, and to all Americans. We wish him as good luck in his new career as Private Barrow as he has had in his long career as Joe Louis, heavyweight champion.

So They Say
New York debutantes look older than their mothers. Their appearance is distressing.—Bud Westmore, Hollywood makeup artist.

Let's shoot the works and get this nightmare over with.—Production boss Donald M. Nelson.

Air power, American air power, already represented by American aircraft fighting on all fronts throughout the world, will win victory; and that victory will come to us much more quickly than our enemies appear to believe.—Col. John H. Joutet, president, Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

I want you to tell President Roosevelt we of the American forces fought valiantly and defended our posts until the last.—Capt. George J. McMillin, governor of Guam, in interview as a prisoner in Japan.

These soldiers of the production line, like the soldiers at the battle front, have taken the offensive against the Nazi, Japanese, and Italian slaves.—Undersecretary of War Patterson, in tribute to workers who gave up their holiday to increased production.

Looking Backward
forty years ago.

The Rev. J. C. Jacoby, president of the Ministers' alliance, has called a meeting of the organization at the study of the Fifth Street M. E. church, south, tomorrow morning to decide whether McKinley memorial services should be held Sunday, as requested by the McKinley National Memorial association and endorsed by Governor Dockery.

O. F. Harris, the carpenter, who recently invented a ladies' folding table, is now manufacturing them at his home, 1123 East Ninth street.

J. L. Kautzman, Sedalia druggist, was initiated last night into Sedalia Camp No. 16, Woodmen of the World.

L. S. Crum has been appointed United States marshal for Kansas, succeeding W. E. Sterne, of Topeka, former secretary of the Sedalia Street Railway company.

High averages were shown at Camp Branch school in the second quarterly examination given by the teacher, T. R. Melton, this week.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or steady passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

County War Board Discusses Flow Of Scrap Material

Committees Named In Townships To Help With Phases Of Defense Work

The Pettis County USDA Defense Board, composed of Bruce C. Claycomb, chairman; Thomas J. Raines, Oscar H. DeWolf, Edward Heffernan, John Baker and J. U. Morris, at its meeting last Monday afternoon discussed plans relative to increasing the flow of scrap material into consumptive channels.

Considerable amounts of scrap iron are moving into consumptive channels in this area in that local dealers report approximately 250 tons shipped since January 1. However, with the urgent need for this material in the defense program the committee feels that more scrap iron should be moving into consumptive channels.

Plan Publicity
The board intends to follow an intensive publicity program on both the movement of scrap iron and the repair of farm machines. In order to reach more people a committee was named in each township to assist in this program. The committees and their respective townships are as follows:

Blackwater: Elbert F. Rissler, Arthur Meyer and C. A. Staples.
Houstonia: Ray Schondelmaier, Dewey Houchen, Fred Neef, P. T. Killian and Amos Rhinehart.
Longwood: C. V. Jones, James Harvey and B. S. McDaniels.
Heaths Creek: Cloyd Leftwich, J. O. Latimer and Ray Tabler.
Bowling Green: McKinley Thomas, Floyd McFarland and W. J. Morris.

Cedar: Robert McCurdy, D. W. Scotten and C. H. Mittenberg.
Hughesville: Walter L. Smith, E. M. Green and Kemp Hieronymus.
Dresden: W. A. Enterline, Harry Skinner and G. C. Brunkhorst.

La Monte: William Shernamen, Ernest L. Jones and George D. Swope.
Elk Fork: Guy Mahin, Olin Ragar and George Murphy.
Prairie: Raymond Neitzert, J. L. Perrin and Herschel Walk.
Smithton: Fred R. Nuzum, Raymond Kahrs and Fred Hoehns.

Lake Creek: R. D. Montgomery and Fred Schlesselman.
Flat Creek: Leo Coffey, Vest Elliott and Porter Henry.
Washington: Fred Brockman, Elmer Aldeman and C. D. Hunt.
Green Ridge: William G. Ruffin, Raymond Hagan and Alozo Moon.

Machinery School
Plans were also made for the committee to attend the district machinery school that will be held in Clinton on February 4. Since the declaration of war, the name of the defense board has been changed to the county USDA War Board.

Check Machines For Repairs

The limitation in the manufacture of new farm machinery places greater emphasis on repairing old machines to do the necessary job in producing food for freedom. Because of the many limitations it is important that all farm machines be rechecked for needed repairs and repair parts ordered now so that these parts may be received before the machines are needed in the field work this spring and summer.

The placing of orders now will also permit local machinery dealers to place their orders with the manufacturer and in turn will help local dealers maintain an adequate supply of repair parts to meet the necessary needs that will occur during the planting and harvesting season. A breakdown at harvest time will mean that repair parts will be needed immediately. Such repairs will need to be found in the stocks of local dealers.

Local dealers report that many farmers are taking advantage of the situation placing orders now. Not only are orders being placed for repair parts but machines are being overhauled and made ready for spring work. Both of these are important and necessary in order to get the best job done in producing food for defense.

Ferns At North Windows
Ferns will grow indoors at north windows, as the sunlight is not necessary for their growth, says Miss Julia M. Rocheford of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

Great Need For Iron And Steel Scrap

Shortage Will Curtail Supply Of Farm Implements

There is still great need for iron and steel scrap in the defense program, according to the USDA War board. Civilian shortage of steel, including steel for implements and parts needed for machines used on farms will be more severe if we can not keep steel mills running to capacity. A certain proportion of scrap steel is needed to combine with iron in charging the steel furnaces. Many companies have indicated that unless their supply of scrap is augmented promptly, shutdowns will ensue.

With this great need for scrap iron and steel all scrap piles on farms should be checked over and sorted and iron and steel not needed sold to scrap dealers so that it may be placed into consumptive channels.

Reports from local scrap dealers indicate that scrap iron is moving into consumptive channels much faster than 30 days ago. Since January 1 approximately 250 tons of scrap iron have been shipped by local dealers to steel mills at St. Louis and Kansas City, but still greater tonnage is needed.

As one farmer put it: "The scrap iron can be put to a double defense use." He sorted his scrap iron pile, sold 7,200 pounds and used the money received for the purchase of defense bonds.

Even though iron and steel scrap is moving into consumptive channels, the county USDA War board feels that it should move much faster. Since a ceiling price has been placed on iron and steel by the Office of Production Management the county war board does not foresee any probable increase in price of scrap iron.

Solutions To Machine Shortage

With a shortage of both farm labor and new farm machinery, better and more complete use of existing machines is essential, says M. M. Jones of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. More custom work, cooperative ownership, and hiring of machines doubtless will be the solution of some farm problems.

The purchase of some used machines, where available, may be expedient, depending upon the machine, the price, and how it would fill the needs of the purchaser. It is often not only thrifty, but good management, to buy a used machine. Many used machines are in good condition, or can be put into good condition, and will serve for a time as well, or almost as well, as a new machine.

Used machines require less investment than new ones and may thus release needed capital for other equipment or for other purposes. Cost of owning and operating used machines is less because of the lower overhead costs. It is often best for the small farmer or the young farmer just getting started to purchase used machines.

Some used machines may be so worn, however, or lack so many desirable features found on new machines, or so inefficient in use of fuel as to make them poor investments except for very limited use.

With the scarcity of new machines, reconditioned used machines will doubtless become more valuable.

About Potatoes
A potato plant produces its seed above the ground, but true potato seeds are a rarity and cuttings of the underground tubers usually are used for reproduction.

Much Interest Shown In Grain Show

Held Last Week During Clover And Prosperity Meeting

Corn, small grain and legume seed of high quality made up the Pettis County Grain show held last week in conjunction with the Clover and Prosperity conference. Interest in the show was high, with spectators remaining even as the exhibitors removed their entries.

Show Winnings
Grand champion ten ears of corn was a sample of Ried's Yellow Dent shown by Rollie Thomas, Sedalia. Winning in the show were as follows:

Ried's Yellow Dent—10 ears: Rollie Thomas, Sedalia, first; H. E. Hoehns, Smithton, second; Chas. Romig, Sedalia, third; Leo Hoehns, Smithton, fourth; and J. H. Newland, Sedalia, fifth.

Midland Yellow Dent—10 ears: Leo Hoehns, first; Gerge R. Wilkerson, Hughesville, second.

Hybrid—10 ears: Leo Hoehns, first; Hubert Finley, Sedalia, second.

Johnson County White—10 ears: E. C. Stevens, Sedalia, first; H. E. Hoehns, second; Leo Hoehns, third; Joe Brown, Sedalia, fourth; C. H. Mittenberg and son, Sedalia, fifth.

Bushel:
Ried's Yellow Dent—Rollie Thomas, first.

Midland Yellow Dent—George Wilkerson, first; Leo Hoehns, second.

Johnson County White—H. E. Hoehns, first.

St. Charles White—C. H. Mittenberg and son, first.

Reid's Yellow Dent—Boy's class—10 ears: Otis Thomas, Sedalia, first; Roy Zeb Thomas, Sedalia, second; Ralph Thomas, Sedalia, third.

Midland Yellow Dent—Boy's class—10 ears: Bob Hoehns, Smithton, first; Wayne Hoehns, Smithton, second.

Johnson County White—Boy's class—10 ears: Herbert Stevens, Sedalia, first; Harold Stevens, Sedalia, second; Howard Stevens, Sedalia, third.

Hybrid—Boy's class—10 ears: Ed Hoehns, Smithton, first; Barley—Hubert Finley, first; Leo Hoehns, second.

Wheat—Hubert Finley, first; Leo Hoehns, second.

Oats—Chas. Romig, Sedalia, first; Leo Hoehns, second; Hubert Finley, third.

Red Clover—P. S. Read, Sedalia, first; W. P. Fowler, Hughesville, second; Leo Hoehns, third; William J. Lamm, Sedalia, fourth.

Sweet Clover—P. S. Read, first; D. W. Scotten, Sedalia, second.

Lespedeza—Hubert Finley, first; D. M. Scotten, Sedalia, second; Leo Hoehns, third.

Timothy—W. P. Fowler, first.

To Red Cross
The first prize St. Charles White bushel of C. H. Mittenberg and Son was contributed to the Red Cross and auctioned off at the conference, and was purchased for $5.00 by Dr. Parkhurst of Hughesville.

The grain show was again sponsored by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, with ribbons only as awards, as the conference committee thought that funds that might support the grain show could better be used for defense purposes.

Recipe For Braised Liver

Beef, pork, or lamb liver can be cooked in an appetizing manner as well as calf liver. The liver of very young animals is naturally more delicate in flavor and texture than that from older animals. Liver from pork or lamb generally has a stronger flavor which can be removed by scalding with boiling water.

Many vegetables like onion, celery, carrots, and tomatoes combine well with liver and tend to make the liver taste more mild. A well seasoned brown sauce made with some bacon is good with liver. A Spanish sauce with green peppers and onions is also good.

The following recipe for braised liver is a popular one:
Dredge the liver with flour and then brown it in bacon fat. Cook very slowly until it is brown on both sides. In the bottom of a casserole put chopped celery and thin slices of carrot and onion, and lay the pieces of braised liver on these vegetables. Add a little water to the pan in which the liver was browned, and pour these drippings over the liver in the casserole. Add a half cup of beef stock, water, or tomato juice. Put

Estimates Number Of Fruit Trees Needed By One Family

In answer to the question—how many fruit trees and other fruit plants are needed for an average family of about six persons, T. J. Talbot of Missouri university says for an average family of six, the fruit needs for a year may be met from about 20 fruit trees and 385 small fruit plants. A planting of this extent should produce, on the average, approximately 75 bushels of tree fruits, 250 pounds of grapes and 350 quarts of small fruits.

These yields are estimates and must be considered as such. Moreover, they are conservative and given for the purpose of aiding those interested in fruit plantings in determining the supply of fruit required for their families. Liberal allowances have also been made both for fresh fruit and home canning.

The number of trees suggested for the average family of six, in addition to those needed for hired help and company, consists of four trees each of apple, pear, peach, plum and cherry. To have succession crops of each and good cross-pollination facilities at blooming time, a separate variety may be chosen for each kind of fruit tree.

For the small fruits, the estimated number of plants includes 250 strawberry plants, 70 raspberry plants, 25 blackberry plants, 20 grape vines, 10 gooseberry bushes and 10 currant bushes.

This suggested number of trees and small fruit plants may seem small to some. It is well known, however, that better results—in determining the supply of fruit required for their families. Liberal allowances have also been made both for fresh fruit and home canning.

Missouri USDA Defense Board Question Box

- Q. Will the government help farmers in financing increased production?
A. Individual farmers may obtain loans for purchase of needed materials and equipment from local production credit associations. Loans to low-income farmers either as individuals or as small cooperative groups, are available through the Farm Security Administration.
- Q. If feed prices, farm wages and other production costs continue to rise, how can farmers be expected to keep on increasing their production?
A. This year farm prices in general have risen much faster than farm production costs. In 1942 farm prices may not rise as much as they have this year, but they are expected to be favorable in relation to prices paid by farmers.
- Q. Why have the prices for things farmers have to buy gone up faster than prices they get for what they sell?
A. This is not the case. Since the beginning of the expansion program this spring, prices received by farmers have increased 35 percent while prices paid by farmers have increased less than 10 percent on the average.
- Q. Are farmers receiving their fair share of the national income?
A. In 1940 farm people comprise 23 percent of the population, but net income from agriculture going to people on farms amounted to only a little over 7 percent of the national income.
- Q. If I expand production now, what will happen after the present war emergency is over?
A. Farmers will be warned well in advance when the emergency price support is to be discontinued, and the machinery of the AAA, together with surplus disposal programs among low income families, can be used to adjust to changing conditions. Moreover this country's food will be needed to feed the nations impoverished by war.
- Q. It takes time and money to build dairy herds and laying flocks, as well as make other preparations for the requested food production increases. Can we increase rapidly enough to meet the emergency?
A. The number of dairy cows and laying hens is expected to be sufficient to reach the 1942 food goals, provided farmers exert special efforts for feeding and care. Thus it is important that farmers concentrate on boosting output per cow and yield per hen.

The same rules for cooking liver so that it will be appetizing apply also to kidney.—Flora L. Carl, University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

Caution On Ewe Diseases

Undoubtedly the greatest number of cases of pregnancy diseases in sheep appear in January and February of each year, is the word of caution issued by Cecil Elder of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. Since the cause of this trouble is definitely associated with the ration and nutrition, certain precautions may be taken at this time to prevent a large number of cases developing.

Investigations have shown that the disease is never, or rarely, observed in flocks which are properly fed. It has been found that a good legume hay, fed in liberal amounts, is most satisfactory in preventing this trouble. It is usually necessary to feed grain only during the last six weeks of pregnancy unless the ewes are thin, when they should be fed sooner. The amount of grain to feed daily will be indicated by the condition of the ewes, but will usually range from one-half to one pound per head. Any good legume such as clover, alfalfa, or soybean hay, may be used.

A moderate amount of exercise should be allowed, but it is not necessary to enforce exercise to an extreme degree. This is especially true when the ewes are poor or only in fair condition. Plenty of good water, and salt self-feed, should be available at all times. Irregularity in feeding and watering is considered to be a predisposing cause of pregnancy disease, so should be avoided.

If the disease has already appeared in a flock, the ration should be changed immediately and a legume hay added.

Apricot Growing

Among the Canadian provinces, British Columbia is the only one in which apricots are grown. The province produced 64,000 bushels during 1940.

Care Of House Plants Explained

To keep house plants in good condition, the room should not be overheated. There should be plenty of moisture or else evaporation from the leaves will take place faster than the roots can supply moisture from the soil. Shallow pans of water placed on the stoves and kept filled will provide moisture sufficiently for the atmosphere to avoid drying out from that source.

The soil should not dry out or the growth of the plants will be checked and loss of foliage will result. Good drainage may be accomplished by placing a few pebbles at the bottom before the soil is placed in the pot. A good garden soil with plenty of humus will be the most satisfactory. Whenever the top soil begins to show dryness, the plants should be watered. All the soil in the pots should be well moistened in watering, and excess water drained out through the bottom of the pot.

House plants need fresh air daily. This may be let in through a window or door across the room from the plants, thus allowing it to mix with the warm air before reaching the plants. Cool, fresh air will not injure the plants unless they are exposed to it for too long a time.

Often the leaves become covered with dust, thus closing the pores. The plant should be sprayed or the leaves sponged off to get rid of the dust.—Julia M. Rocheford, University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

Europe's Largest Lake

Lake Ladoga, scene of Russian-Finnish fighting in 1940, is the largest lake in Europe. Nearly the size of Wales in area, it has a mean depth of 300 feet.

Recognition To Seven Pettis Farmers

Cited For Doing Excellent Job Of Pasture Farming

Recognition for doing excellent jobs of pasture farming was accorded to seven Pettis county farmers by L. E. Hawkins, Agriculture Commissioner of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce, at the Clover and Prosperity conference last Friday.

Henry Alt, E. C. Stevens, and P. S. Read were awarded gold, silver and bronze medals for being first, second, and third in Pettis county in the 1941 Missouri Pasture, Dairy, and Livestock contest and C. G. Ficken, D. W. Scotten, J. C. Longan, and Corson and enterline were commended for their fine showing.

Pasture Important
The records of these seven farmers fully indicate the importance of a pasture system of farming. On the Henry Alt farm 58.3 per cent of the total feed used was obtained from pasture. The other farms had from 41 per cent to 56.2 per cent of the total feed used obtained from pasture.

Pasture furnished the roughage on these farms during the greater part of the year. Every farm had full pasture for almost 8 months out of the year and the Corson and Enterprise, Scotten, Alt, and Stevens farms had the equal of 8½ to 9 months of pasture for all livestock on their farms.

Cost significant is the fact that six out of the seven farms were improving their soil as calculated by the fertility index worked out at the Missouri College of Agriculture.

All Ranked Well
In efficiency of production, which considers the amount of feed and pasture necessary to produce the animal products on the farm, the Alt, Stevens and Ficken farms obtained about one-third more production from their feeds than the average farmed in the State of Missouri. The other contestants ranked well on this score too.

Similarity of the pasture used was noticeable. The Alt farm had a succession of pasture in second year sweet clover, oats, and lespedeza completely grazed out, lespedeza which had been raised under small grain that was cut, winter barley, and first year sweet clover-lespedeza. Permanent pasture was also used.

The Stevens pasture system included rye, both first and second year sweet clover, lespedeza, permanent bluegrass pasture, and sudan grass, which filled in a gap in the summer. Livestock on the Read farm grazed on oats and second year sweet clover, wheat and first year sweet clover, a timothy-lespedeza-red clover combination, lespedeza after small grain, and permanent bluegrass.

Same Types Used
The same types of pastures in various combinations were used by the other contestants. In all cases the systems were planned to furnish succulent pasture throughout the year.

In addition to providing abundant pasturage by furnishing a succession of supplementary pasture, these pasture contestants were also improving their permanent pastures.

These permanent pastures are being given a chance to come back by not having livestock on them all the year weeds are being controlled by moving thus giving the grass a better chance, and lespedeza is being seeded in the pastures, giving both increased pasturage and helping the growth of the grass with the nitrogen accumulated.

On some of the farms, agriculture limestone is being applied to the permanent pastures with sweet clover to be seeded as on improvement measure.

How It Was Named

Ammonia also is known as "hartshorn." At one time it was made by beating the horns of stags, or harts, in closed vessels to draw out the gases.

Keep Horses Free Of Bots

With farm work stock of increasing importance in the war program, these animals should be kept free of bots and in top working condition, says George D. Jones of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. Bots interfere with normal digestion, rob the horse of its food supply, and sometimes seriously irritate stomach and intestinal walls.

The best treatment for killing bots is carbon disulfide given by a veterinarian. During December and January is the best time for treatment. This treatment is almost 100 per cent effective, and removes large intestinal roundworm and some of the other internal parasites as well.

Although it generally pays to treat horses or mules on a single farm, control efforts on a community or county-wide basis are still more effective. The cost of the treatment can be reduced if horses can be brought to central treating points and a tour schedule worked out for the local veterinarians. This plan is carried on in many Missouri counties, with the local agent assisting in arranging the tour schedule.

Farm Power Question Is Important

Farmers With Mules And Horses Are Most Fortunate

The farm power question has rather suddenly taken on unusual importance, and with the many problems of material and transportation involved, farmers with enough horses and mules to do their work find themselves particularly fortunate, says E. A. Trowbridge of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture.

There are in the country now about 10 million horses. One half of these are mares, and at least four million of these mares will be of breeding age this summer. It would seem the part of good farm planning to breed those mares that are worthy of being brood mares, in an effort to provide farm power as soon as possible. While it is hoped, of course, that the war will end before colts born in 1943 are old enough to work, it seems quite evident that the aftermath of the war will not have cleared away for some time after such colts are ready to do a day's work.

There is little outlay of cash in the breeding of mares. Growing colts will utilize much rough feed, and certainly promise to come to a point where they will add to the well-being of farmers generally. They will provide farm power with minimum obligation at a time when both may be important.

An adequate set of records furnishes the best basis for these adjustments which must be made, and records should be started right now with this change in view. The Missouri Farm and Home Record Book can be secured from any county agent.

DONALD "He Gets Things Done" Is Life Pattern NELSON: Of New U. S. War Production "Czar"

Armed with the broadest powers ever delegated to one man in American history, Donald Marr Nelson, chairman of the new War Production Board, is responsible for America's all-out effort. What manner of man is he? What is his record—as an executive and as a person? To answer these, and your other questions, NEA Service-Sedalia Democrat correspondents searched the facts from his birthplace in Hannibal, Mo., from Chicago, from the man himself and from the person who knows him best—Mrs. Nelson. The result is an up-to-date, two-part picture in which America's new production boss one—in which America's new production boss comes vividly to life. The article below is the first of two.

By TOM WOLF

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The man to whom President Roosevelt has delegated the greatest power in the history of the nation to speed your country's war effort has but one decoration on the wall of his plain office in the Social Security Building in Washington. It is a framed motto, posing the pertinent question: "A year from now what will we wish we had done today?"

When Donald Marr Nelson, the newly-appointed chairman of the all-powerful War Production Board, looks up at this question at the end of each day, you can rest assured that he will be able to answer it with two words: "Very little."

It has always been Don Nelson's habit to pack an enormous amount of work into his day. Even before the war, he outraged the habits of government employees by arriving at his green carpeted office before 8:30 each morning. Chances were that even before that he had talked shop with a guest over an early breakfast at his Broadmoor apartment.

Once in the office he sticks there until 6:30 or 7 at night, lunching (on butter-milk and salad) right at his desk—usually with business guests.

Nelson's ability to get things done is so great that before America's entry into the war it was seldom necessary for him to take home a briefcase full of paper work. But even then he packed his evenings until the small morning hours seeing people. A good mixer, fond of stories, his eyes twinkling as he talks in a soft, well modulated voice. Donald Nelson, through his quiet evening conversations, often cleared the way for quicker accomplishments the next day. Now, of course, his routine has changed, and many evenings are spent behind the desk at his office.

An Incessant Pipe Smoker
It is not only, or even primarily,

Nelson's long hours that enable him to accomplish a staggering amount. One look at his office gives you the real key. He is a superb organizer. His office is built for getting things done. Along one wall, there is a bookcase filled with reference books. That, a small conference table, the framed motto on the wall, and his own big desk are all.

His desk is bare save for trays of incoming and outgoing mail; a silver flagstaff with a small American flag, and a wooden cigar humidor, with a 10-pipe rack on the sides, which his three secretaries gave him last Christmas. Nelson is an incessant smoker especially of cigars and pipes. He has more than 50 pipes. Like everything else he does he works at them methodically, never smoking the same one twice in succession, carefully caking each, layer by layer.

He Wanted To Be A Pitcher

Behind that desk sits Nelson. He is tall (6-foot-1), husky (200 pounds, plus). His light brown hair is thinning, but he combs it carefully to hide the balding spots. He wears horn rimmed glasses. A conservative dresser, his taste runs to thin-pin-stripe suits, quiet shirts and ties. Now 53, he has hoed a long hard row since that day in November, 1888, when a son was born to the wife of a Katy railroad locomotive engineer in Hannibal, Mo., Mark Twain's home town.

Young Don Nelson grew up on "the wrong side of Bear Creek," which divides the Hannibal social scale. His mother died when he was three and he was brought up, a serious, lonely little boy without brothers or sisters by his Scotch-born maternal grandmother, a MacDonald. Don had plenty of opportunity during his early youth to observe firsthand the value of economy as preached and practiced by the frugal Mrs. MacDonald.

As a boy he spent endless Saturdays exploring the caves and forests and islands of the Mississippi river country immortalized by Mark Twain in Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn. And he made his first public appearance (aged 8) at the old Clemens' homestead performing "The Rustle of Spring" on the piano (which he has long since forgotten how to play).

But Mark Twain was not Don's boyhood hero. "My hero" he says in his breezy mid western way, "was Jake Beckley, then a first baseman on the old Cincinnati Red Stockings." Legend has it that Don's first prophetic acquaintance with Sears, Roebuck & Co. (whose $70,000-a-year executive presidency, he has just given up to take on his War Production Board chairmanship) was when he ordered from them a marvelous gadget designed to insure an aspiring pitcher the ability to throw an unhittable curve or spitball.

Donald Marr Nelson: "A year from now, what will we wish we had done today?"

Sandlots gave way to laboratories as number one in Don's esteem while he was at high school in Hannibal. He grew fascinated with chemistry and graduating at the head of his class, went on to the University of Missouri at Columbia to study chemical engineering.

Because of his superb physique these days, people generally assume that he must have been at least an all-American tackle in college days. He wasn't. For one thing he wasn't husky enough in those days. Besides he was working his way through college by grading papers and stoking furnaces and so, as he explains, "I money. Rhubarb in various disguises was set before unfortunate undergrads at breakfast, lunch and dinner.

Finally the students revolted, raided the storehouse and smashed the supply. Unfortunately that very day a new bulk shipment arrived. The next evening in the middle of dinner, rhubarb-sated students pounded the table with knives and forks chanting a Nelson-penned minor epic: "Rhubarb tender, rhubarb tough! Good God Sisson, we've had enough."

"I'll Get Back Soon"

After graduation in 1911, while working for his master's degree Nelson was offered a job at Sears, Roebuck & Co. The big mail order house was establishing testing laboratories and needed young chemists. Don Nelson, who wanted to take a PhD and go on to teach chemistry, took the job to earn the money necessary for further study.

"I'll get back soon," he confidently told his Alpha Chi Sigma brothers who went to the station to see him off to Chicago. But he never got back. Sears, Roebuck recognized that it had a remarkable young man in its testing lab. It sent him to Lowell, Mass., as a textile chemist (during which time he designed and produced from thread to finished article, a complete suit which still nestles in moth balls in Nelson's Chicago home.)

Slowly, but surely, Nelson rose through Sears, Roebuck right up to the executive vice presidency in 1938. As general merchandising manager for 10 years, from 1928 to 1938, Donald Nelson purchased merchandise—in some 135,000 lines from tractors to toenail clippers—which sold for $4,500,000,000. That experience will come in handy today, now that he's handling that much every month for Uncle Sam.

Married to the former Helen Wishart for 15 years, Donald Nelson had been living comfortably in Glencoe, fashionable Chicago suburb, when on June 30, 1940, President Roosevelt personally called him by phone and asked him to come to Washington to help the Treasury department's procurement section get squared away on some defense buying.

As when he had left Columbia, Mo., for Chicago nearly 30 years earlier, Nelson thought he'd be gone only a short time. He didn't even bother to take his golf clubs with him. But such are Donald Marr Nelson's abilities that once you've got him you don't let him go easily. So it was with Uncle Sam. Nelson has been in the capital ever since.

Tomorrow: Nelson at work.

Seven Hours In A Cold Sea After Ship Sinks

HOBOKEN, N. J., Jan. 22.—(AP)—With their ship torpedoed and sunk within sight of land, three survivors of the coastwise steamer City of Atlanta recalled today how they spent nearly seven hours in the cold sea off North Carolina awaiting rescue and watching shipmates lose their grip from wreckage and disappear.

The three, all from Savannah, Ga., were the only known survivors of a crew listed at 47 by the navy. John York of Clayton, Ga., second assistant engineer, died shortly after being taken aboard the Seatriner, Texas, a rescue ship. Two survivors, Robert Fennell, Jr., oiler, and George B. Tavelle, second mate, are in a hospital here, while Earl Dowdy, uninjured, left for Savannah last night.

Twenty-one survivors of the 3,700-ton Latvian cargo ship Ciltvaria, also torpedoed without warning off the North Carolina coast, were brought to Charleston, S. C. Two of the crew of 32 were killed by the explosion. Nine other survivors were taken to another port.

The 5,269-ton City of Atlanta and the Ciltvaria were best by enemy submarines early Monday morning.

Held on Wreckage.
Fennell of the City of Atlanta said the torpedo sounded like a pistol shot. He bolted upright in his bunk, saw the sea through a gaping hole in the freighter's side. He raced for a stairway as the ship listed to port side, but halfway up stopped short, ran back

Founders' Day To Be Observed

A Founders' Day program which marks the forty-fifth birthday anniversary of the founding of the parent-teacher movement will be observed at the meeting of the Pettis County Council of Parent-Teacher Associations which meets, Tuesday, January 27, at the Fifth Street Methodist church in Sedalia. Mrs. Paul B. Zink, county council president, and the following hostess units expect a large attendance: Bethel, Elm Branch-Swisher, Higgins, Hughesville, Lone Star, Maplewood, Smelser, and Sunny Side. Mrs. Jon W. Lewis, program chairman, will present a play, "The Lighting of the Candles," from the Elm Branch-Swisher Association and the Higgins unit plans to present recreational plans. During the morning session in addition to special recognition for new units there will be a group of songs by students from the Lincoln high school in Sedalia. The farm program will be illustrated by pictures shown by Mrs. George Fichter at 1:30 o'clock. A contributed luncheon is to be served at the noon hour.

John A. Collins In Navy Heard From

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Collins, 911 East Sixth street, Wednesday received word from their son, John A. Collins, aged 21, who is in the United States navy, the first message since they received a card dated November 11, and mailed from Honolulu.

The card received Wednesday was so thoroughly censored that no information was given, other than that he is well, getting along all right, and a letter would follow at the first opportunity. The postmark was so covered that there was no way of telling the sending place, and parts of the message were blacked out entirely.

Rev. P. J. Allwell Has Eye Operation

Rev. P. J. Allwell, former pastor of the Good Will Chapel, near Sedalia, who is now pastor of Girard Methodist church, McGregor, Iowa, underwent an operation on his left eye, for a detached retina, at Barnes hospital, St. Louis, January 13. He will be in the hospital for three weeks. The injury was the cause of an accident, acquired while Rev. Allwell and family were returning to their home, during a heavy snowstorm, after having attended a goose dinner, given in his honor, at the home of an old friend, Dr. Enoch Kettlecamp.

Mrs. Allwell remained in Iowa to look after Mr. Allwell's church work.

Mince-meat Drop Cookies (Makes 2 1/2 Dozen)
One-quarter cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup mince-meat, 1 1/4 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons phosphate baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt.
Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Fold in mince-meat. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add to creamed mixture, stirring until well blended. Drop by teaspoonsfuls on greased baking sheet and bake in moderately hot oven (400 F.) about 10 minutes.
stock highly seasoned, salt and cayenne.
Melt butter in omelet pan and add rice. Cook 3 minutes. Add tomatoes, chicken, and enough stock to moisten. Cook 5 minutes and season highly with salt and cayenne. Add more butter if desired.
For Russian pilaf, use lamb in place of chicken, adding a chicken liver sauteed in butter, then separated into small pieces.
Apple Sauce
To get apple sauce that is juicy, cook them in a covered pan until just soft, press through a colander, sweeten to taste, and add a few grains of salt. Add a little spice if you like it.
For cabbage and apple casserole, put alternate layers of sliced tart apples and shredded cabbage in a greased baking dish. Season each layer with salt and a little fat and a sprinkling of sugar for apples. Over last layer put buttered bread crumbs. Cover and bake in moderate oven for about 45 minutes—or until cabbage and apples are tender. Then remove the cover to brown the crumbs.
Fried apples can be tasty accompaniment to the main meat dish. Cook them slowly in fat that doesn't burn too easily, sprinkling about one-fourth cup sugar to every 2 quarts of diced apples. Put a lid on the skillet and leave it on until apples are tender. Then take the lid off, turn apples over gently and let them brown. Serve on a platter with strips of bacon, slices of ham or salt pork, or sausage.

A cheery dish for cold days—tropical sweet potatoes

the KARO way

Here's the way to add savor, flavor, and new interest to those old favorites—sweet potatoes! Better make two servings for everybody—they're that good!

HOORAY!

TROPICAL SWEET POTATOES

5 medium sized sweet potatoes, boiled 1/2 cup KARO (blue label) 2 1/2 cups crushed pineapple (canned) with juice 2 tablespoons melted butter

Peel and cut potatoes in 1/2-inch slices. Place in shallow oiled baking dish. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over potatoes. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet potatoes prepared "the KARO way" are as good for you as they are delicious. For KARO syrup is rich in Dextrose, food-energy sugar.

How to make Pillsbury's Prune-Filled Coffee Cake

In good taste morning, noon, or night

Complete recipe:

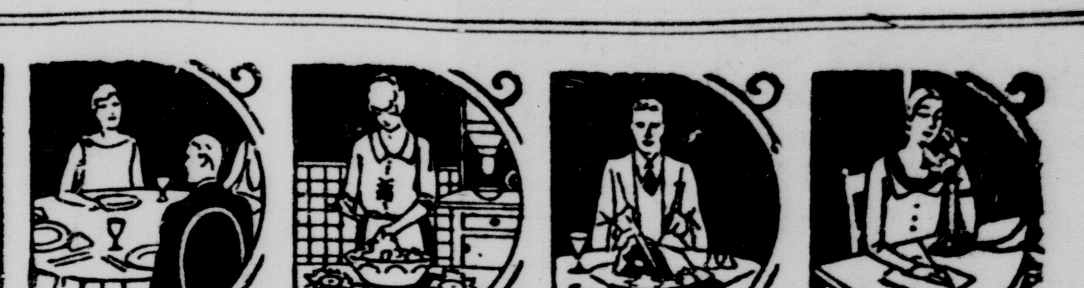

1. Sift and measure 2 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour. (Two B-vitamins and iron are added to this fine flour, with no change in flavor, color, or baking quality.) Add 3 tps. baking powder (or 2 tps. double-acting), 1/4 tsp. salt, and 1/4 c. sugar; sift twice. (The rich creamy-white color you see in Pillsbury's Best is insured by hourly tests during milling.) 2. Cut in 1/4 c. shortening until quite fine. 3. Add enough milk to 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten, to measure about 1/4 c. Add to dry ingredients; mix only until all flour is dampened. 4. Knead lightly on a floured board a few seconds. (And be ready for a perfect Coffee Cake! For you're using Pillsbury's Best flour, the flour that's tested by actual baking 4 to 6 times a day during milling.) 5. Roll out into 12 x 10-in. rectangle. Brush with melted butter spread with this filling: 6. Combine 1/4 c. chopped cooked prunes, 1/2 c. raisins, 1/3 c. chopped dried apricots, dash of salt, 1/3 c. water, 1/3 c. sugar and 1/4 tsp. cinnamon in saucepan. Cook until thick. Chill thoroughly. 7. Spread 1/2 of filling on center 1/3 of dough. Overlap 1/3 of dough on filling. Spread with rest of filling. Overlap remaining 1/3 of dough. Moisten edge and seal. 8. Place on greased baking sheet. Make 1-in. diagonal gashes on both sides of loaf 1 1/2 in. apart. 9. Gently tilt each cut section at a slight angle. 10. Brush with 1 egg white, unbeaten, combined with 2 tps. water. Sprinkle with 1 Tbsp. sugar combined with 1/4 tsp. cinnamon and 1/4 c. chopped blanched almonds. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 15 to 20 min. This delicious Pillsbury coffee cake can be baked quickly—there's no waiting for dough to rise. Why not get a bag of Pillsbury's Best from your grocer and bake a delicious Prune-Filled Coffee Cake this very day!

Odd Bread

In Persia, most breadmakers stick the dough to the walls of the oven and peel it off in huge pancake-like sheets when baked. Customers of the bakeries use these loaves as wrappings for their other purchases.

Peach Pits for Fuel

A man in San Leandro, Calif., has operated a thriving business for the past 11 years buying peach pits from canneries. He sells them to the public for 10 cents for a large gunny sackful. The peach pits ignite easily, burn for a long time, and produce an intense heat. They are said to be as good as hard coal for fuel.

Rice Ring

Mix 4 cups cooked rice with 1/4 cup melted butter. Pack into buttered 1-quart ring mold. Set in pan of hot water until thoroughly heated. Turn out on serving dish and fill center as desired.

Brown rice requires longer cooking, otherwise it can be used in the recipe like white rice.

To bake rice, put 1 quart, cooked, in buttered baking dish. Beat 2 eggs slightly with 2 cups milk, season highly, and pour over rice. Dot with butter, sprinkle with paprika, salt, and pepper, and bake until brown.

TO SAVE MORE MONEY

These days when taxes and higher living costs crop up everywhere, it's smart to get more for your money. One way is to buy all your foods at A&P Food Stores where everything is priced down low every day in the week. No, we don't cut a few prices for a day or a week-end and call them "Specials," "Big Bargains" or other confusing names. Our policy is "down to earth prices on everything every day." You see, we want you to save every day on everything.

EXTRA SAVINGS, EXTRA FINE FOODS!

You'll find some foods here you won't find anywhere else. These are the extra fine foods we both make and sell, guarding their quality from source to sale. And talk about savings... many of these delicious things to eat offer you savings up to 25% compared to prices usually asked for other nationally known foods of comparative quality! They're our best "buys"—and your best bet.

Housework will never seem dull when you are dressed for it in this perky, gracefully fitted frock! The panel section down the front achieves a streamline smoothness which entirely overcomes the bumps and curves of an overweight figure. The front holds a flat line because of the side sashes which tie in back, the gathers below the bodice allow ample ease. Here is an attractive neckline too,

Points to Louis As the Greatest Fighter Ever

Awards To The Champ And Gene Tunney Given

BY SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(AP)—A fellow who would be inclined to look lightly upon the stunt of an army bomber making a three-point landing on the tower of the Empire State building pointed to Joe Louis today as probably the greatest fighter who ever lived.

This overcautious individual is none other than your old pal Gene Joseph Tunney, who retired undefeated as heavyweight champion, who took a long count in Chicago one night that they said gave him all the best of it, and who looked on the dynamite of Dempsey without blinking an eye.

The occasion for his sudden discovery of Louis as a pretty fair country beak-buster, after seven years of varying degrees of pooh-poohing the Brown Bomber, came last night at the annual dinner of the Boxing Writers' Association of New York. At this clambake, Louis, decked out in his buck private uniform, received not only the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque as the man who did the most for boxing in 1941, but also the Ring Magazine merit award as the fighter of the year.

What is more remarkable about Gene Joseph's song of praise was that Gene Joseph himself was among the reward receivers. He got a special trophy from the boxing writers for his services as head man of the navy's fictitious collection.

Great Exhibition

"I saw Joe beat Buddy Baer down in less than a round a week ago last Friday," explained Tunney, who has been more or less snickering at the bomber ever since he came down the pike back in '35. "It was the greatest exhibition of human destruction I have ever seen."

"Joe is probably the greatest and most complete workman the ring has ever seen. The only other fighter in all ring history who might have done his job as well as Bob Fitzsimmons, and I never saw him. I'm going only by what they tell me."

Gene Joseph passed on his delayed pat on the back in the presence of such ear-scrambling operators as Jack Dempsey and Jim Braddock, but it's doubtful if Louis got more kick out of Tunney's speech than he did out of the wire from Lieut. Col. Howard Brenner of Camp Upton, where Louis is stationed. This wire, voicing the colonel's regrets for being among the missing, also pointed out that Joe is "developing into as fine a soldier as he was a boxer and a gentleman."

This was the final whipped-cream-on-the-cake for the bomber. It topped off Tunney's praise and added a neat touch after former Mayor James J. Walker tabbed Joe with "the highest title known among our people—you are an American gentleman."

The 300 diners in the beefsteak room of Ruppert's Brewery were on their feet applauding as Walker hailed Joe for his fight with Buddy Baer for the Navy Relief as "a great American, a great Negro and something more; you put a red rose on Abe Lincoln's grave."

"Well," Joe said after that one, "I always thought I'd never feel as good again as the night I won the heavyweight championship. But tonight tops 'em all. I've never felt this good."

Urge Keeping Of Racing Going

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 22—(AP)—The nation's racing commissioners urged today that the sport of kings be continued for the duration of the war as a morale measure and as a means of providing employment for thousands of people who could do nothing else.

As the National Association of State Racing Commissioners opened its first war-time convention here, President Beverly Brown of West Virginia declared "racing as a sport means much to hundreds of thousands who have no other recreation, and we sincerely believe the continuance of the various meetings will be a real contribution to national morale."

"The closing of Santa Anita track was perfectly justified, of course," he added, "even though it meant the loss of employment to some 1,200 people who could do nothing else because they had no knowledge of anything except racing. But we do believe that since racing has such a definite recreational value it can be continued despite the war."

Equipment Lists To State Council

So that defense officials can secure the use of vital equipment within an extremely short time, an itemized list of all the private and company-owned construction equipment in Sedalia, as well as other cities in the state, has been placed in the hands of the state defense council for possible use in war emergency.

"Many small plant owners have equipment which is sometimes small but difficult to obtain immediately, and which is needed for certain production," state council members said. "We can streamline for immediate action by having this list at our finger tips now."

"We know where every piece of equipment is located," said E. C. L. Wagner, secretary of the Associated General Contractors of Missouri in St. Louis "and it could be gathered up quickly and put to work anywhere should the need arise. This would be especially helpful in the event of sabotage to bridges and highways."

The survey of all local equipment was completed and furnished to the council by the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Look Over Industrial Plants Here

Capacities For Possible Defense Work Studied

Several Sedalia industrial plants capable of manufacturing defense materials were inspected Wednesday by Wesley H. Stultz, engineer of the division of contract distribution, of OPM at Kansas City and V. A. Juengel, manager of the manufacturing and trade department of the Singer Sewing Machine company, of Kansas City.

The men, in company with Charles Van Dyne, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, Ellsworth Green, Jr., secretary of the C. of C. Charles O. Botz, director of industrial development in Sedalia, and E. M. Stafford, Jr., secretary of the Lamy Manufacturing Co., visited several local plants to inspect the machinery, and production capacity of each.

The men stated that they were satisfied that the city would be an ideal location for the possible placing of government contracts, and a Kansas City representative of the OPM will be placed in Sedalia to work with the local manufacturers. The representative probably will be situated at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The government production of the Lamy Manufacturing company also was surveyed by the two men.

Although the OPM was abolished yesterday, other divisions which will take its place have been named, and the representative who will be placed in Sedalia will work under the jurisdiction of the

To Encourage Food Producing

To encourage the increased needs for the supply of food during the war, Ernest W. Baker, secretary-manager of the Missouri State Fair, announces a new division in the agriculture department will be added for the 1942 fair. Booths have been constructed in the agriculture building for this purpose and entries may be made by any bona fide community agricultural organization such as Farm Bureaus, the Grange, Farmers Union, boys and girls organizations and other similar groups.

The exhibits must be of an educational nature, designed to show graphically some phase of community activities, relating to production, marketing or community welfare.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

This unique device was patented in 1884. Reads the patent in part: "... a new, ornamental illuminated device for frightening and exterminating rats ... the figure of a cat arranged so figure will shine in the dark." This inventor expected his device to make him a million dollars. But he was fooled—he didn't get what he wanted. To be sure you do, remember this:

With Those Who Know Their Bourbon Best It's T.W. Samuels
KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY

Don't be fooled about whiskey's quality. What goes into the whiskey at the start is just as important now as it was a century back. We make our whiskey in the original, old-fashioned "slow" way we started over 100 years ago. We want our whiskey to get a good start—so age will really count. That's how we get such extra smoothness, extra richness. That's why T. W. Samuels—straight whiskey every drop—sells best in the "bourbon country". Yes, T. W. Samuels costs more to make but not to drink. Try it yourself.

No Night Ball By Yanks At Home
NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(AP)—There will be no night baseball for the world champion Yankees in New York, although it would be easy for the Bronx Bombers to step across the Harlem river to the Polo Grounds, illuminated home of the Giants.

"We will play no night baseball in New York, President Ed Barrow of the Yankees declared in commenting on a suggestion
